PASSENGER, named CHAN WAN, lately A took passage from CALCUTTA by the Steamer "LIGHTNING" bound for this Port. After embarking on the Steamer in question he became so seriously ill that he departed this life during the voyage. Through the kindness of the Captain of the Steamor, the body, instead of being thrown into the sea, was put in a coffin and conveyed to this Port. The Captain also exerted himself to make all arrangements for the deceased and reported the matter to the Local Harbour Master. His brother desires with the despest gratitude to thank the Captain for his kindness. CHAN HUNG SHEK.

CITY ANALIST'S LABORATORY, 138, BATH STREET, GLASGOW, 13th March, 1891. FIRST QUARTERLY REPORT FOR 1891 ON ROBERT BROWN'S

FOUR CROWN" BLEND OF SCOTCH WHISKY. I have made a minute and careful chemical analysis of a fair sample of several hundred casks of Robert Brown's "Four Crown" Blend of Scotch Whisky, taken by myself from the bonded stores in which the casks are lying, and the result of my analysis indicates that it is a pure Whisky, which has been matured for a considerable period in Sherry Casks, and from its mild and agreeable flavour I am of opinion that it is a very fine blend of Scotch Whisky.

"not be in a position to gain a hearing in favour of such an arrangement so long as we are willing to continue our attempt to "accomplish the result single handed." Whother this should be read as indicating an opinion on Mr. CLEVELAND's part that international bimatallism is still a thing to be striven for we do not know, but certainly the the present juncture does not necessarily mean a conclusion of the battle, of the standards. It may, indeed, be the turning point at which the scarcity of gold in proportion to the demands made upon it will be become so apparent that all nations alike will recognise the necessity of again invoking the assistance of silver for currency purposes. In the meantime there seems some reason to believe that the effect on silver of the repeal of the Sherman Act has been fully discounted and that there is not likely to be any prepared to book orders for prompt or forward further great decline in exchange. The people of the United States are entitled O Bunnd stable ourrepay and to money recognized as such on every exchange and in extry market of the world. Their Government has no right to injure them by financial experiments opposed to the policy and practice of other civilized States, nor is it, justified in permitting an exaggerated and unreasonable reliance on our national strength and ability to jeopardize the soundness of the people's money.

This matter rises above the plane of party politics. It vitally concerns every business and calling and enters every household in the land. There is one important aspect of the embject which especially should nover be overlooked. At a time like the present, when the evils of unsound finance threaten us, the speculator many anticipate a harvest gathered from the mistortunes of others.

The capitalist may protect himself by hearding, or may even find profit in the fluctuation of values; but the wage-earner -the first to be injured by a depreciated ourrency, and the last to receive the benefit of its correction-is practically defenceless. He relies for work upon the ventures of confident and contented capital. This failing him, his condition is without alleviation, for he can neither prey on the misfortune of others nor board his labour.

One of the greatest statesmen our country has known, speaking more than lifty years ago, when a derangement of our currency had caused commercial distress, said: "The very man of all there who has the deepest interest in a sound currency and who suffers by the mischievous legislation in monetary matters is the man who earns his daily bread by his daily toil." These words are as pertinent now as on the day they were uttered, and ought to impressively remind us that a failure in the discharge of our duty at this time must especially injure those of our countrymon who labour, and who, because of their number and condition, are entitled to the most watchful care of their Government. It is of the utmost importance that such relief is Congress can afford in the existing situation be afforded at once. The maxim. "He gives wice who gives quickly." is directly applicable. it may be true that the embarrassments from which the business of the country is suffering arise us much from evils apprehended as from those actually existing. We may hope, too, that calm conusels will prevail, and that neither capitalists nor wage-earnlets will give way to nare-soning panie and sacrifice their property or their interests under the influence of exaggerated fears. Nevertheless, every day's delay in removing one of the plain the responsibility of the Government for its existence. Whatever else people have a right to exprot rom Congress they may certainly demand that the legislation condemned by an orderl of three ears' distatrons expanence shall be removed from the statute books as soon as their representutives can legitimately deal with it

It was my purpose to summon ongress in special session early in the coming September. bat we might enter promptly upon the work of tariff reform, which the true interests of the country clearly demund, which so large a majority of the people, as shown by heir suffrages, desire and expect, and to the accomplishment of which every effort of the present admini tration is plodged. But while tariff reform has lost nothing of its immediate and permanent importance, and must in the near future engage the attention of Congress, it has seemed to me that the floancial condition of the country should at ones and before all other subjects be consider-
